"The Vindicator" is a new paper at Augusta, Ky. The proprietor, Mr. W. V. Weldon, is an experienced newspaper man. He declares that the Vindicator has come to stay.

The"Manufacturer's Record" says that the iron industry, with all its branches, is moving toward the South. This is glorious news for Kentucky and especially the Eastera portion.

The most extreme destitution is reported from Walsh county, Dakota, where the tarmers are barefooted and scarcely clothed, living on a poor porridge made of green wheat and oats.
